

What's Up Wise!

Teacher Spotlight: Ms. Wopperer

Mrs. Wopperer has been teaching for 4 years and her favorite part is getting to know her students. Her favorite subject to teach is math.

She attended Buffalo State and Canisius College for her teaching degree. Her favorite sports are basketball and soccer, and she loves to cook and travel. If there were an arm wrestling match between she and Mr. Klein, she is sure she would be the clear winner!

Gaming news

Have you been playing the popular game Fortnite? Well here are some updates! There was just a live event called The Ice King Event that created changes to the map. Some of the changes are, ice zombies, snow all over the map, and sneaky snowmen that you can throw or wear! Also in the patch notes they made Gold Brutes spawn 100% in a game. In Polar Peak the ice is melting and there are rumors that something is making noise in the dungeon, people are also saying that another king is in town and The Ice King doesn't like that.

Junior FFA

Anyone can join the Junior FFA! FFA is about leadership, fundraising, helping people in our community, animals, and yes a little farming. You can learn how to be a better public speaker. You can run for an officer role within the Junior FFA for example, you can run for president and vice president.

If you want more information go to Mrs. Armenia's room and look at the FFA board to get more info.

This is the NFI bracket of how the LA Rams and the New England Patriots got to the Superbowl, Who do you think will win the Superbowl?

*The highest-seeded team in each conference is guaranteed to play the lowest-seeded advancing team from the wild card round.

Did you know that we are getting air conditioner in our schools! It will be way more comfortable when it's hot out. Our bathrooms are also getting renovations, they will be nicer and cleaner.

DID YOU KNOW?

.....11% of people are left-handed
.....a cat has 32 muscles in each ear

Boys modified basketball participated in the Barker Invitational and beat Albion 24-8! Roosevelt Mitchell scored 6 pts! Jack Cecchini added 4 and Xavier Haynes added 2 more! Jack Cecchini led the scoring against Barker in the same invitational.

On January 23rd the boys took on Albion, Alex Benz got his first point of the year when he sunk his foul shot and Ethan Page was flying all over the court playing aggressive defense!

Next game is Jan. 25th home against Barker at 4:30! Come cheer on your Modified Mustangs!

The fourth and fifth graders are working on musicals! The 4th will be on the Erie Canal and the 5th is called "Rats".

The 6th and 7th grade band is working on new songs for Spring. The theme is the letter "B", Bugs, Breaking News and Blind Brook.

Remember if you want to get better, PRACTICE and COME TO YOUR LESSONS!

publicdomainvectors.org

Jokes:

Why do dragons sleep in the day?

.....So they can fight knights!

Why was the broom late?

.....It over swept!

Congratulations to the Middle School PTSA Reflections Winners!

Film:

Elaina Huntington, Award of Excellence

Literature:

Kaity Howe, Award of Excellence

Kyrstyn Sims, Award of Excellence

Maggie Lonnen, Award of Merit

Madelyn Rutledge, Award of Participation

Visual Arts:

Gianni Stornelli, Award of Merit

Photography:

Addison Taylor, Award of Excellence

Theresa Biesinger, Award of Participation

Wise Stories by Wise Students!

Celestia didn't know what to do. She feared for her pack. What will happen to them? She thought to herself.

Her mother, a beautiful white she-wolf began to howl, signaling an escape was mandatory. Her silky fur began to show brightly against the darkening sky as the opposing wolf pack began their attack.

Celestia watched as her mother's kind, turquoise eyes changed. The previous kindness had completely dissipated, replaced by a merciless fury. She lunged at their attackers.

Celestia, the young, but adult wolf, had to run. She began stumbling through the snow, yelping and barking as she struggled.

Her fur almost instantly gets matted in the thick, crust like snow, her tangled, snow infused fur slows her down.

As she looks back, she realizes how far she has gone already. Her deep turquoise eyes quiver as she thinks of everything that could have happened to her family.

Huffing and puffing, she slows down and walks lazily, fear quickly escaping her mind.

Though she has a pack mentality, she was told to run. So she did.

She finally collapses in the snow, her stomach rumbling, her hind legs aching. She lets out a whimper of defeat as she lay her head in the snow.

Slowly, despite her fight against it, she falls asleep...